SABBATH OBSERVANCE.

Address by William Bacon Delivered Last Sunday Afternoon.

The following address was delivered by William Bacon at the church last Sunday afternoon. The meeting moved that the address be published and the Herald takes pleasure in giving it to its readers.

The Sabbath was instituted at the close of God's work of creation—soon as God made man he made the Sabbath for man—It was given to Adam just as he faced the first bliss of Paradise, and through him to his whole posterity and when some twenty-five hundred years later, amidst the thunders of Sinai, the law of the Sabbath was imbedded in the very heart of the Jew himself in the very heart of the deacon, and engraven with his own finger on the tables of stone, to denote his perpetuity and unchangeable nature, the reasons given in the fourth commandment are the same as those given at the close of the creation—"For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it."

That the completion of the work of creation should be celebrated is naturally wonderful, nor yet that it should be done in the manner herein described. If the achievements of man genius be thought worthy of commemoration, how much more so the stupendous evolution of the "Sun, moon and stars of light" and their orderly arrangement in the heavens.
If, at the foundation of the mighty structure, it was proper that the "morning stars should sing together and all the sons of God shout for joy," how fitting that man should perpetuate the same, until the notes of the final jubilee be sounded, when man and angels shall unitedly praise up the refrain, and for ever swell the chorus of thanksgiving and praise.
Thus we see that the obligation is imbedded in the original cause of creation—it is based on the relation that we sustain to God as our creator—and since all men sustain the same relation to God the reason for its observance applies with equal force to the whole race through all time. Moreover, that the man Creator should, in some way, demand of his creature a formal acknowledgment of his creative work, is the fitting thing; that He should need to bind them to Himself by trying to bring upon their love and affection, that He should appoint a place and designate a time when He would condescend to meet them, and graciously admit them to communion with Himself, that He should select for this purpose, the day of his resting from his creative work, and that He should hallow the day thus selected by sanc-tifying it from all the rest, and making it Holy as He is holy, that it might thus ever stand as a perpetual witness for Him as Creator, a strong or unvarying assurance. This whole arrangement is so simple and yet so comprehensive as like all the other works of the mighty Architect, as to stamp it indubitably with the impress of His divine hand.

The Sabbath is to be sanctified by a holy resting all that day, even from such worldly employment and recreation as are lawful on other days, and spending the whole time in public and private exercises of godly worship, except so much as is to be taken up in works of necessity and mercy.
And we should especially notice that no other works are excepted in the word of God. He warns the people against a further relaxation of the command even in the busiest seasons. "Six days shall thou work, but on the seventh thou shalt rest."

Great emphasis is given the law by its frequent repetition. It is repeated again and again. And its importance is increased by the special blessings promised, and still more greatly enhanced by the awful CURSES pronounced AGAINST THE DISOBEYANCE—a curse that is as potent today as when uttered as a warning to the ancient Israelites.
Sunday is the core of our civilization, dedicated to thought and rest and it invites to the noblest activity. It is the noblest activity. He who observed the Sabbath loves the poor, loves them with an unflinching love that reaches down through the nineteen centuries that we have lived, to rescue man from the inhumanity of his fellow man. To the God of all the despairing cry of the teen-ing millions who labor week in and week out, in our great factories, railway systems and other industrial institutions—the cry of faint muscles and aching nerves, and bodies driven by unflinching will beneath the grinding wheels of our modern juggernaut, men toiling seven days and then another seven, wasting body, mind and soul, that a few more dollars may be added to the wealth of a man who has dollars enough and to spare, that more luxuries may be thrown around lives already smothered and cluttered from carrying the weight of needless luxury.

The MASTER of the universe saw all this when He placed as one of the foundation stones of our religion and civilization the Sabbath of Rest. He meant it to apply with equal force to the train crew of our Sunday excusions, to the mortician and conductor, to our cities, whose cars carry hundreds of pleasure seekers out to the recreation parks and beer gardens, to the pleasure seekers themselves who selfishly allow their own ungodliness to be an others that peace that comes from a "Sabbath well spent." When an effort is made to put an end to these works of the Devil—Sunday excursions and debauches—the cry arises on every side "Don't rob the poor man of his Sunday!" In absolute disregard of the fact that in allowing the Sabbath to become desecrated as a day of worldly amusement we are perverting its holy nature, defeating the end for which it was intended and forcing men, who must live by the "sweat of their brow" to sacrifice their just heritage—a day of hallowed rest—to say nothing of the divine law, on mere worldly grounds. It is plain that nothing is more conducive to the health, intelligence, comfort and independence of the working classes, and to our prosperity as a people, than our Christian American Sabbath.
Where there is no Christian Sabbath, there is no Christian morality; and without this true institutions cannot long be sustained. Break down Sunday, close the churches, open the bars and the theaters, the beer gardens and amusement parks on that day and where would values be? That question can be answered by quoting the value of real estate in Sodom and Gomorrah.

The Sabbath is God's special present to the working man, and one of his chief objects is to prolong his life and preserve efficient his working time. It is the savings bank of his manhood. I never knew a man to escape failure, in either mind or body who worked seven days in the week.

I am satisfied that at least 75 percent of the Sunday trains in our state —possibly all of them—could be done away with, and on the Sabbath without financial loss. Think of the rest of man and body the employee would receive. Take Canada today, they have no trains except the through trains from the states. Some states are seriously contemplating the stopping of the Sunday trains, especially the local trains. The state of Virginia is among the number. A veteran railroad man once said: "If the producers and church members would not use the Sunday train, it would not pay to run them." I can give you the name of one of the most prosperous and flourishing towns in the country that does not have a Sunday train. The citizens so spiritual when they granted the railroad the privilege of entering the town. This town is Shelbyville, Tenn., a town of about 5,000 inhabitants, said to be one of the wealthiest towns in the state to its size. These figures will show you it is not a dead town, but that you are the beneficiaries of a dividend of 10 per cent, another 10 per cent and placed 5 per cent in the savings fund. A man declared a dividend of 27 per cent. These are said to be the average dividends for these industries. How this looks like Sabbath observance will kill a town?

In this age of materialism, when so many of our people seem money-mad—when we are rushing through life at a rate that precludes spiritual growth, it is doubly important that we have our own good and for the satisfaction of our children this one day of relaxation from the cares and troubles of the week-day world. Spend it with our children to spend it as our travelling father intended. The last few generations have witnessed a sad falling away of our people at this point. Sunday has been allowed, in some cases even encouraged, and there is absolutely no excuse for it.
The only argument I have ever heard offered in its defense is, that have been a financial success, without the Sunday money, making the accuse of our boys subsequent to the doctor and today there is nothing more degrading to the boys and young men of our state than Sunday base ball.
I tell you it would pay some of you to investigate the Sunday at tendance at our ball parks. It would surprise you to find how many of your boys are "riched to temptation."

We all know that a growing boy wants to be amused, regardless of the day, and that it is very easy for him

Follow this advice.
Quaker Scotch Oats is the best of all foods; it is also the cheapest. When such men as Prof. Fisher of Yale University and Sir James Crichton Browne, LL.D., F.R.S., of London spend the best parts of their lives in studying the great question of the nourishing and strengthening qualities of different foods, it is certain that their advice is absolutely safe to follow.

Professor Fisher found in his experiments for testing the strength and endurance of athletes that the meat eaters were exhausted long before the men who were fed on such food as Quaker Scotch Oats. The powers of endurance of the non-meat eaters were about eight times those of the meat eaters.

Sir James Crichton Browne says—eat more oatmeal, eat plenty of it and eat it frequently.

The Largest Piano Sale on Earth!

Our 31 Collins has just returned from New York, Boston, Chicago and other northern points, and while gone bought ONE MIL-LION DOLLARS WORTH OF FINE PIANOS, this can be 40 train loads, but Mr. Collins arranged it so that they will all be brought in in one continuous train. The engine has just now arrived, and it will be Ten Days before the last car will arrive. This great Sale he bought Piano at 20 cents on the dollar and they will be offered for sale as follows:

Steinway $500 Piano For $43; Knabe $43.24; Fischer $26; In Fact, All The Leading Makes None of Them Over 65 DOLLARS

All you Wonders who have no time, we will make you a present of one, and you poor folks can get one for nothing down, and three years to pay for it. NO INTEREST.

Now when you come into the store we will place our hand on your shoulder and call you "Brother" or "Sister," and rub some of our selling oil on you, and to your surprise you will find that all the great bargains have a card on them "Sold," but you never can find out who sold them, or who bought them. The next step we will take is to land on you with some flashy case, or cheap Piano which will last a retail less $125 to $150 and under this price will be our slaughtered price "$125.00" while we ought to sell it at $150, but you lost in two. Now these large amount of Pianos will be sold in just Ten Days, because you know we want to get out of town, and divide our spoils, so that when these Pianos break down on you we got your money. SEE, JUST AS EASY. If you believe the above just swallow it down, and if you do not, let's all laugh.

A Few Actual Facts

This is to certify that J. L. Collins has handled from this factory in car load lots 1,704 instruments since 1903 Signed, THE FARRAND CO.
Rockford, Ill., Dec. 7, 1909.

To Whom it May Concern:
This is to certify that J. L. Collins buys our Pianos in car load lots direct from our factory, thereby saving a great amount of freight. This places Mr. Collins in position to sell much cheaper than a dealer who buys in less lots.
Signed, HADDORFF PIANO CO.
Detroit, Mich., Dec. 12, 1909.

J. L. Collins has handled our Pianos for a number of years, buying them at the lowest cash price, and is in position to sell much cheaper than a dealer who handles hand-picked goods.
Signed, CLOUGH & WARREN PIANO CO.
Greenville, Texas, Dec. 9, 1909.

This will introduce to you Mr. J. L. Collins, whom I have known a number of years.
I take pleasure in saying in behalf of Mr. J. L. Collins that he is a thoroughly reliable, good for any contract that he may make, and is a gentleman. Any favor shown will be appreciated by, Yours very truly,
F. J. PHILLIPS,
President Greenville National Exchange Bank.
